Chandoba Marathi Stories Pdf Download

the website opened in march 2013 with a piece that the times of india dubs “a first for marathi fiction and in indian literature at large”. it launches a new era for creative writing in the language and is a “bookworm’s delight”. the website’s editorial board consists of founders, rajendra kodavatiganti kutumba rao, and manohar agavatikar, with poets like keshav naik, shrirang gopal bhat, manohar joshi, and sandeep vaman domb as volunteers. poet/novelist p. s. kenkre has been appointed the managing editor. in 2018, the website began offering translations of 100-year-old marathi poems and manuscripts in foreign languages like spanish and english along with the original text. the translations are put up in an educational platform called iminnova for students and teachers, supported by the education ministry. in a bid to bridge the gaps in access to literature and writing, the website’s editorial board aims to produce “incredible and unimagined literary work and literary criticism in marathi”, as it aspires to become an academy of marathi literature. together with the book festival, the website has also launched the chavat dhuta foundation. the foundation will encourage young writers by offering stipends and new forums for exhibition and discussion. the website also takes on “critical research” in contemporary marathi literature. it has compiled a list of nine critics from around the world to date: john peter dwyer, gerald meyers, steven r. j. urban, yoshihiro inaba, yojiro aoki, paul a. pantzar, william robins, sarah jacobi, and naseem khursheed.
